Landrieu vs. Cassidy; Edwards vs. Graves

Runoff Election Dec. 6

United States Senate

Bill Cassidy (R)
Received 41% in Primary

Mary Landrieu (D)
Received 42% in Primary

Congress - 6th District

Edwin Edwards (D)
Received 30% in Primary

Garret Graves (R)
Received 27% in Primary

BATON ROUGE — The Dec. 6 ballot will feature two runoffs with national implications. U.S. Sen. Mary Landrieu (D) will face Congressman Bill Cassidy (R) for a six-year term in the United States Senate. Conservative Republican candidate Col. Rob Maness received more than 200,000 votes in the Nov. 4 primary, and his endorsement is considered important to uniting conservatives behind Cassidy.

On Nov. 4, Republicans picked up eight seats and won control of Senate, and a Republican win in Louisiana would strengthen the party's hold on the body.

In the Sixth Congressional District, former Gov. Edwin Edwards (D) will face Gov. Bobby Jindal's former coastal zone director, Garret Graves, the Republican. Edwards and Graves eliminated nine other candidates in the Nov. 4 primary. Fifth place finisher Lenar Whitney (R) endorsed Graves Wednesday. It is unclear if candidates Paul Dietzel (R) and Dan Claitor (R) will make an endorsement.

3 School Board Seats To Be Decided Dec. 6

BATON ROUGE — Voters in Baton Rouge will decide runoff elections for three seats on the East Baton Rouge Parish School Board on Saturday, Dec. 6.

The election could decide whether BRAC will achieve its goal to winning a majority of the nine-member board.

In District 1 - Two incumbent board members will face off — Jerry Arbour (R) and Evelyn Jackson-Ware (D), who is backed by BRAC.

In District 6, Republican Mark Bellue (R) who is supported by BRAC, is in the runoff with Jennifer Andrews (D).

In District 8, Republican incumbent Connie Bernard is opposed by Chris Bailey (R), who is supported by BRAC.

The East Baton Rouge Republican Party is supported Arbour and Bernard.

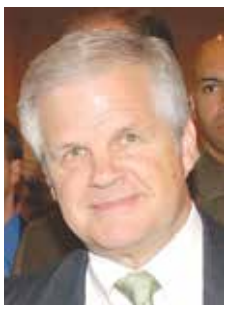
Pro-Life Was Big Winner in Tuesday's Election

Eight Pro-Life Republicans Will Replace Eight Democrats Who Are Pro-Abortion

Woody Jenkins
Editor

The Republican tidal wave of victories arrived all at once Tuesday night around 10 p.m. By 10:30 p.m., the liberal media was already playing down the victories and cautioning that the Republicans must "work with" President Obama. That's amazing, because Obama hasn't worked with anyone — Republican or Democrat — since he was elected. For Obama, it's "My way or the highway," which is in part responsible for the remarkable failure of his presidency.



Woody Jenkins

By Wednesday, Speaker John Boehner was already talking about "compromise" with the President. What? This historic majority — a 100-year high mark — was elected to stop and undo what Obama is doing — not pander to his idiosyncrasies.

On Wednesday, Obama said very clearly: I have heard the voters, and I don't plan to change course! One headline read, "Obama Defiant Despite Humiliation"!

With a net gain of eight new senators and Louisiana still out, Republicans in the Senate will have a working majority. Republicans in the House will have a huge majority. This is not the time to play piddy-pat with Obama.

January will be the time to move forward on many fronts. It is essential that Congress use the power of the purse to enforce its will. That means restricting how Obama uses the taxpayer's money. While Obama can veto regular legislation, his ability to veto appropriations has limits, and that is the vulnerability that Republicans must exploit.

Perhaps the biggest winner Tuesday was the right to life. Eight pro-life Republicans defeated eight pro-abortion Democrats in the Senate.

The Senate will be far more pro-life than in the past. In addition, the Right to Keep and Bear Arms won victory after victory, as pro-gun Senate candidates and gubernatorial candidates defeated Democrats who favor gun control.

It is an historic time. Now we will see if Republicans will move forward expeditiously with pro-free enterprise, fiscally conservative polcies. They must rein in Obama on a host of critical issues, starting with illegal immigration.

★★★

Senate Race in Louisiana. Republican Congressman Bill Cassidy made a good showing, as did conservative Republican Col. Rob Maness, who won more than 200,000 votes. Incumbent Democrat Mary Landrieu will fight, and her hope is to turn out her base, while Republicans slumber, secure in the knowledge that she can't win. The reality is she can win, if Republicans don't do their job. Congressman Cassidy must reach out aggressively to bring into the fold Col. Maness and the conservative base which supported him. That means taking a strong conservative stand on the issues and communicating those policies to the electorate.

Sixth District Race. In the Sixth District, Garret Graves too must reach out to conservatives. He polled 27 percent but must appeal to those who voted for Paul Dietzel, Dan Claitor, Lenar Whitney, Craig McCulloch and the other Republicans. That means healing the differences and bringing people together.

LOOKING FOR CENTRAL HIGH GRADUATES CLASS OF 1964

An effort is underway to locate the 1964 graduates of Central High School. If you're one of these graduates, and you've not yet received a phone call or e-mail about plans for an upcoming 50th reunion, please contact Connie Mack Dickinson at cmdickinson@bellsouth.net. Please pass this along to any 1964 CHS grads you know.

Adam Haney has seen first hand the toll crime takes on a community.

As current Chief Homicide Prosecutor and former Chief Gang Prosecutor he's focused and responsible for identifing and prosecuting gangs and gang members in East Baton Rouge Parish. His innovative work as lead prosecutor for Baton Rouge Area Violence Elimination (BRAVE) helped reduce parish homicides by 22% last year.

Throughout his career, Adam's fought to protect children and families.

On November 4, vote to let him keep fighting.

Central Fire Dept. Proposes 4.25-Mill Tax Hike

Tax Would Provide Funds to Eliminate One-Man Stations

Editor's Note: The Central Fire Department provided the following information to explain its proposed 4.25-mill property tax increase on the Dec. 6, 2014, ballot.

CENTRAL — The Central Fire Department was established in 1972 and currently operates from five fire stations. These stations cover over 60 square miles, respond to 2,500 calls for service per year, protecting 35,000 people and 10,800 homes and businesses, with a value over 1.5 billion dollars. Fire stations are staffed by a total of eight firefighters on duty during each 24-hour shift.

Three of the stations have two firefighters on duty and two of the stations each have one fire fighter on duty. The current staffing level for the Central Fire Department is drastically below the national standard of four firefighters per engine company.

For most of its history, Central has depended heavily on volunteer staffing. Unfortunately, as times change, more demands are placed on those who would normally volunteer. Additionally, the national fire service has placed more stringent training requirements, which has led to a shortage of volunteer firefighters.

Highlighting this problem, the Central Fire Department has conducted four volunteer academies over a ten year period, with a net gain of two firefighters to the department. Following national trends, the Central Fire Department now depends more on full-time staffing than volunteers.

Having exhausted all available options to increase staffing, the Central Fire Department is proposing a 4.25 millage increase for the Dec. 6, 2014, ballot. The funds generated by this millage would allow Central Fire Department to increase its staffing to minimum levels and eliminate single staffed stations.

The Central Fire Department is proposing to increase staffing at each station.

While having two firefighters on each engine company is well below the acceptable staffing per national standards, having two firefighters would greatly increase the safety factor for the firefighters as well as the public. Firefighting is a labor intensive, hazardous profession and having trained, well-equipped personnel on scene creates a safer environment for citizens and for fire fighters.

The additional staffing goes well beyond fighting fires and has dramatic effects on all requests for assistance from the public. For instance, a routine medical call in Central that a one-man engine company responds to, now requires a second Central station to respond just to get sufficient personnel on scene, creating a huge gap for coverage in the fire district.

Central Fire Department's two one-man engine companies routinely are relocated to cover empty stations that are on other emergency calls, thereby distributing the hazards of a one-man engine company to all citizens in the fire district. Recently, a one-man engine company from Central responded to a cardiac arrest and another one-man engine company responded to a working house fire. These single firefighters were alone on the call for some time, waiting on additional personnel to arrive and assist. While these firefighters immediately performed their duties, attempting to save life and property, there is only so much one firefighter can accomplish. That places the public and firefighters in unacceptable situations.

While paying taxes is not something anyone wants to do, the Central Fire Department directly saves each home or business owner significant amounts of money each year in fire insurance premiums. Citizens of the Central Fire Department pay less than 2.5 million dollars in taxes and service fees to the fire district each year.

In contrast, Central Fire Department home and business owners save over 14 million dollars on their fire insurance premiums each year. The additional personnel this millage will allow us to employ will assist us to keep our Class 3 fire rating, thereby keeping fire insurance premiums low. The cost to the average home owner, with a home assessed at $200,000, will be $4.42 a month.

Citizens of the Central Fire Department depend on the fire department in emergency situations. The fire department depends on citizens to provide the equipment and staffing to respond as professionals. We have exhausted all options to increase staffing, and we would like to thank you in advance for considering this proposal.

Ceremonies at Old State Capitol

BATON ROUGE — The East Baton Rouge Parish Republican Women's Club held the first Red Pelican Award ceremonies at the Old State Capitol on Oct. 22.

Five Republicans were presented the Red Pelican Award for their service. The award winners were:

- Lt. Gov. Jay Dardenne for serving as the state's ambassador for tourism
- Secretary of State Tom Schedler for innovation in state and national elections
- Clerk of Court Doug Welborn for parish elections efficiency
- Ascension Parish Republican chairman Kathryn Goppelt for conservative community advocacy
- Woody Jenkins, editor of City News, for conservative media

More than 300 guests attended the event, which included a reception, food, entertainment, a silent auction, videos on each of the honorees, and a ceremony in the old House Chamber. Conducting the ceremonies were Jeannene Kogler and Peggy Vidrine of the EBR Parish Republican Women's Club.

Before each honoree spoke, the audience viewed a video about the person's life and accomplishments.

Lt. Gov. Dardenne recalled that the chamber had been the locale of numerous historic events, including secession convention and the impeachment of Gov. Huey P. Long.

Central High senior running back Anthony Johnson

But before last Friday night, Anthony had been on the playing field for only four or five plays all season. Then last Monday Coach Sid promised to put him in the game against Walker. So Friday night, the Wildcat senior finally got his chance and made the most of it! It was indeed a night to remember! He scored two touchdowns for Central — a five-yard run in the 1st quarter and a 48-yard run in the 4th quarter.

Anthony has had a tough year. He lives with his dad, who has been on dialysis all year. Congratulations to this Wildcat star, Anthony Johnson!
