Lon Vicknair, Aaron Moak In Runoff Election Dec. 12

MAYORAL CANDIDATE LON VICKNAIR election night with his wife Rebecca, Mayor-President Sid Edwards, and First Lady Beanie. Vicknair led Aaron Moak 35-31.

Retired Naval Officer, Family Man Leads in Race with Councilman

CENTRAL - Retired Naval officer Lon Vicknair led Metro Councilman Aaron Moak in the race for Mayor of Central in the Nov. 3 municipal primary. Vicknair, a Central High grad who spent 20 years in the U.S. Navy, is on a leave of absence from his role as Chief of Staff to Mayor-President Sid Edwards.

Aaron Moak

Vicknair led Moak 35 percent to 31 percent. Central City Council member D'Ann Wells received 23 percent of the vote, and businessman Geno Guercio got 11 percent.

Vicknair and Moak will face each other in the runoff election Saturday, Dec. 12. Early voting runs from Nov. 28 to Dec. 5.

In the race for Central Police Chief, incumbent Chief Roger Corcoran ran second and was forced into a runoff by former Baton Rouge Police Lt. Lew Walters who served in uniform patrol and as a detective before joining the U.S. Marshal's office. He is the owner of Lew's Firearms in Central. Corcoran is completing his second term as chief. He has been a polarizing figure since he twice arrested a Central pastor for holding church service during Covid. Those arrests were later thrown out by the Louisiana Supreme Court who said everything done to the pastor was "illegal and unconstitutional." Walters received 38 percent of the vote and Corcoran 37 percent. The third candidate, Paul Kimball, received 25 percent.

Lew Walters

Roger Corcoran

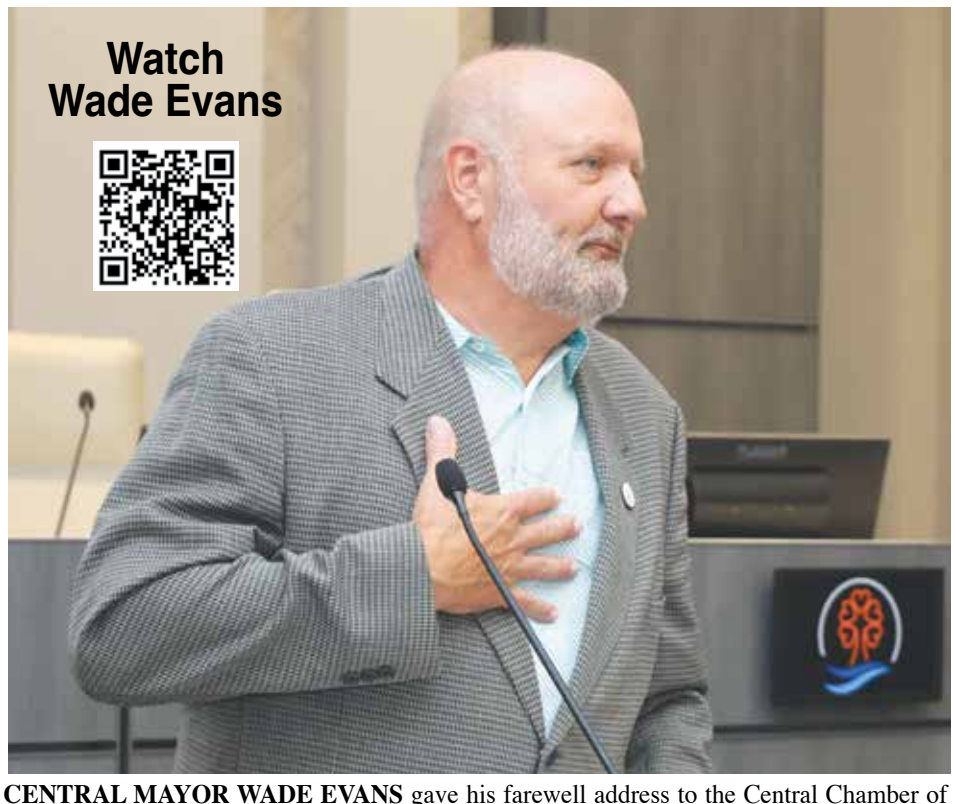

In the only contested City Council race in Central, former City Council Dave Freneaux defeated Hannah Brown 53 percent to 47 percent.

Incumbent City Council members at large Aaron McKinney and Josh Roy were unopposed for reelection

GOP Could Pick Up Seat In Congress Here Dec. 12

BATON ROUGE - Voters in Louisiana's 6th Congressional District have the opportunity to replace Democratic Congressman Cleo Fields with Republican Sen. Blake Miguez. It would represent one of the few pickups in the nation for Republicans. Miguez faces former Metro Council member Chauna Banks. Miguez has been endorsed by the Republican Party and Banks by the Democratic Party.

CENTRAL MAYOR WADE EVANS gave his farewell address to the Central Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, Nov. 11. Evans thanked the people for the opportunity to serve, reviewed the accomplishments of his administration, and talked about the future of Central.

PLAYOFF WIN!
Central High defeated Barbe Friday, Nov. 20 by 36-28 and will travel to Hahnville Friday, Nov. 27 at 7 p.m.

Dec. 12 Runoff Could Result in GOP Pickup of House Seat

Huge Turnout by Democrats Resulted in Few Changes in East Baton Rouge Parish

as were incumbent Councilmen Tim Lazaroe in District 1, J.D. Lavergne in District 2, and Briton Myer in District 5. Newcomer Richard Venable was unopposed in Council District 4

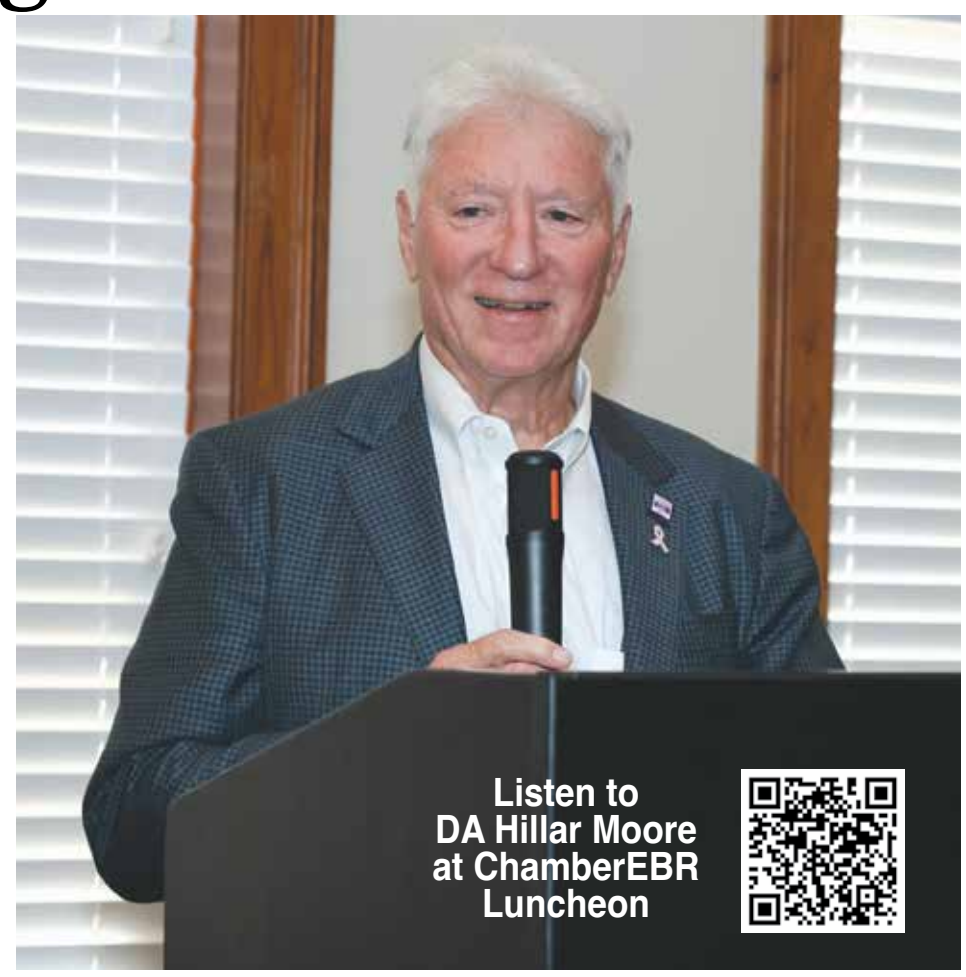

The Central Community School Board had one only contested election. In District 1, incumbent board member Jason Leaphart was opposed by local businessman Jeffrey LaCour. Leaphart defeated LaCour 63 percent to 37 percent.

School board members Nick Carmena, Mike Davis, Michael Hopper, and Carol Norwood were unopposed for reelection. Newcomers Leah Veck and Kenneth Wall were also unopposed.

In Justice of the Peace District 3, incumbent JP Mark Miley was reelected with 51 percent of the vote over Henrietta Williams with 29 percent and LaShawn Goodwin with 21 percent.

Under a reapportionment plan adopted by the Louisiana Legislature, Justice of the Peace districts in East Baton Rouge Parish were extended into the City of Baton Rouge. This is expected to result in faster, less costly trials for small claims. However, extending the districts into Baton Rouge also resulted in a more Democratic constituency.

Incumbent Constable Gordon Hutchinson, a Republican, also running in District 3, was forced into a runoff with Democrat Sheila Freeman. Freeman received 49 percent of the vote in the primary, while Hutchinson received 36 percent and Republican Chris Johnson received 16 percent. While Freeman received 49 percent, the two Republicans received just over 50 percent.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY HILLAR MOORE spoke to the Chamber of Commerce of EBR on crime in the parish. Moore was reelected to another six-year term Nov. 3.

Sheila Freeman and Gordon Hutchinson will face each in a runoff election Saturday, Dec. 12.

In other races, a large black turnout on Nov. 3 resulted in Democratic Senate candidate Jamie Davis carrying East Baton Rouge Parish with 97,909 votes to Julia Letlow's 54,264, or 64 percent to 36 percent.

In another parishwide race, Democrat Winston DeCuir, Jr. won Division B with 94,306 votes to 55,100 votes for Republican Justin DeLaune.

Also running parishwide, incumbent District Attorney Hillar Moore, a conservative Democrat, won reelection with 85,409 votes, or 58 percent, to 62,188 votes, or 42 percent for Democrat Ryan Thompson.

The turnout parishwide for Senate was 52.8 percent, District Judge Division B was 51.8 percent, and District Attorney was 51.2 percent.

Supporters of reforming Family Court had two big victories in the election of Caulette Guillard in Division A and L.T. Dupré in Division C. Guillard defeated Joseph Cataldie 52 percent to 48 percent, and Dupré defeated Wendy Edwards 52 percent to 48 percent.

Central City News Launching Newzhound.us As Conservative Alternative to Drudge Report

Drudge Report Began as Conservative Website, But Flipped to Far-Left In 2019 before COVID

CENTRAL - Community Press, LLC, owner of the Central City News, has launched a new website intended to provide a conservative alternative to the far-left but popular news site Drudge Report, which is found at drudgereport.com.

Central City News editor Woody Jenkins said, "Our Facebook page has drawn 22 million views over the past 12 months, which led us to believe there is potential for a national audience." The site, Newzhound.us, is similar to Drudge in its appearance but draws its content from respected conservative news sites, such as Washington Times, Newsmax, Breitbart, and the Western Journal. Both Drudge and Newzhound are "aggregators" of news, meaning their content is mainly tied to other sources. However, Newzhound will add its own news stories or opinion pieces everyday.

The editor of Newzhound.us is Lynn Matthews, a journalist and editor who got tired of seeing stories people need to read get bent, buried, or silenced. Before becoming a journalist, she practiced dentistry for two decades. She also holds an MBA in technology management.

Mid-Term: Triumph of Grassroots Organizing By Far Left over GOP's Political Consultants

While GOP Consultants Wasted Money on TV And Expensive Mailers, Far-Left Dems Knocked On 217 Million Doors

Media Portrayed the Victory in Iran As Vietnam and a Vibrant, Booming Economy as Depression of 1930's

EDITOR'S NOTE: On Tuesday, Nov. 10, 2026, as the House Republican Caucus was meeting in Washington to elect the new House Minority Leader, I was speaking to the Ronald Reagan Newsmaker Luncheon in Baton Rouge on what happened in the Mid-Term elections seven days earlier.

Woody Jenkins

If you think the election turned on the war in Iran or the economy or the President's personality, you simply don't understand what happened. The Far Left had a plan called Too Big to Rig. They targeted the 19 million voters who voted in 2020 but failed to vote in 2024. They spend hundreds of millions of dollars getting those voters to the polls using NGO's, PAC's, unions, and even foundations. The Republicans were nearly absent on the ground and delusional, spending their hundreds of millions on TV, mailings, and online, which generally do not drive voters to the polls and often drive them away. The result was inevitable.

BATON ROUGE - To understand the mechanics of politics, how to get elected, and what happened in the Mid-Term elections Nov. 3, 2026, you need go no further than what is happening in Washington as I speak. The House Republican Caucus, composed of roughly 180 Republican Congressmen, is meeting to elect a new Republican leader.

Make a List. What happened leading up to today? The candidates for Republican leader made a list of the returning and newly-elected members.

Ask for Support. After making their list, the candidates for leader got on the phone and called each member or, more likely, set up a meeting with each member. They explained why they were running and asked for their support.

Check Off Each Name. Next to each name, the candidate for leader listed whether that person was 1) For him, 2) Against him, 3) Undecided, or 4) Would not say.

Vote Goals. Every candidate for leader had a vote goal. The vote goal is the specific number of votes he needs in order to win. The goal is a majority plus a cushion to insure victory even if there are last minute defections.

Getting Your Committed Votes to the Voting Place. As the day of voting neared, a candidate had to keep reminding each Congressman how important his vote is and how much he is counting on the member being there and voting. A given Congressman may have scheduling problems or a family crisis or a transportation issue. The candidate has to make sure the problem is solved and must not leave things to chance. Every one of your votes has to be present!

You Win! When the roll is called, if you have set correct vote goals, identified those who have committed their support, and made sure they are physically at the voting place, you win!

The only way you won't win is if your opponent is doing the same thing and has done a better job of it.

This is what politics is all about: Identifying your voters and getting them to the polls.

It's not rocket science.

And the principles apply whether it is an election for Minority Leader or dogcatcher, City Council, or President of the United States.

What happened Tuesday, Nov. 3 has been building a long time.

In 1963, when I was 16 years old, Morton Blackwell of Baton Rouge was chairman of the College Republicans. There were very few Republicans in Louisiana in 1963

Morton appointed me to be state Teenage Republican chairman. We met at Alessi's Drive-Inn, which was on the corner of Florida Boulevard and North Foster. Morton gave me three books to read. One of them was How to Win an Election by the AFL-CIO.

Morton said, "Don't be put off by the name of the book. This is not about unions. This is about political technology. It's about how to win an election and it applies to business, labor, Democrats, Republicans, liberals, conservatives, blacks or whites. It's ideologically neutral. It works for anyone."

How to Win an Election applies the same principles used to elect the House Minority Leader to any election. The essence is grassroots campaigning, direct personal contact with every targeted voter, knocking on every door, identifying your favorables by name, and getting those specific voters to the polls on election day.

Republican candidates in Louisiana used that approach from the 1960's through the 1990's and turned a one-party state into a competitive two-party system

For example, when I ran for U.S. Senate in 1996, we identified more than 500,000 voters by name who were committed to our campaign, and we got them to the polls on election day. That resulted in my receiving 847,000 votes for U.S. Senate, one of the largest vote totals in Louisiana history to that date and large even today.

The Blame Game. Today, party officials, candidates, and political consultants are blaming the war in Iran, the economy, and things such as President Trump's personality for the defeat. The truth is, those are the very groups who are to blame, especially the consultants, who have been engaged in political malpractice.

The Rise of Consultants. Political consultants have been around a very long time, but sometime around the late 1990's their influence seemed to rise exponentially on the Republican side. Their word became gospel, and candidates did what they said.

Most political consultants advised

The DNC focused on direct face-to-face conversations. The DSCC spent $550 million to flip seven GOP Senate seats. The militant group No Kings held 3,000 rallies in late October 2026 and turned out 9 million voters. They joined with Indivisible and other 'progressive' groups to organize volunteer grassroots canvassing on a massive scale. This included MoveOn, Public Citizen, AFT, ACLU and 50501. The Progressive Turnout Group spent $35 million on door-to-door canvassing and sent out 18.8 handwritten postcards. The MacArthur Foundation spent $100 million on civic engagement. The League of Women Voters knocked on 8.5 million doors. And there was much more!

their candidates to spend money on paid advertising, which often resulted in significant commissions for the consultants. Another favorite of consultants was oversized postcards.

In the year 2000, the oversized post cards were new for most people, very colorful, and something different. Voters liked them. However, there were overused and by 2004 they had become rather passé. By 2008, they were considered junk mail and hit the trash.

Ever since then, the political consultants have advised a torrent of oversized postcards. They insisted it was essential to mail to this group or that group.

What is the profit margin for consultants on oversized postcards? These numbers are not publicly reported. However, we know that the per piece charge runs from around 45 cents to $1 per card. The profit to the consultant per postcard is likely 8 cents to 25 cents each.

When many hundreds of millions of mail pieces are sent out by Republican candidates nationwide, it adds up to big money. It is mostly wasted. More important, it deprives the campaign of money desperately needed for grassroots organizing — identifying your voters and getting them to the polls.

Perhaps even worse is the cost of TV advertising. TV viewing is way, way down, yet 30-second spot advertising costs are through the roof. The cost of a single 30-second spot in the Baton Rouge market ranges from $500 to $4,000 each. But political consultants won't back down, because each spot on TV, cable, or online represents a sizable commission for those placing the ad.

Imagine the cost of spot advertising in the recent race for Congress from the 6th Congressional District this fall! One spot followed another almost continuously!

Political consultants continue to recommend this type of spending because that's where the money is – for them!

There's No Money for Consultants in Grassroots Organizing. What most political consultants on the Republican side strongly recommend against is spending any money on grassroots organizing! A waste of money, they will tell you. Could it be that they make nothing on that kind of spending?

In 2026, Democrats spent their money on Grassroots Campaigning. For them, the campaign is about getting their voters to the polls. Every conservative should watch the video linked on Page 5.

Too Big to Rig. The Democratic program for Nov. 3, 2026, was called Too Big to Rig. The introduction to the video said this: "Republicans have an institutional blindness. They believe getting voters is all about branding and messaging. They pay enormous sums to consultants and TV ads and have endless conferences on what the right 'message' is."

"Democrats, meanwhile, have built an entire and expensive institutional machinery around getting people physically to the polls. And they were more motivated in 2026 than any other year."

If you think the election turned on the war in Iran or the economy or the President's personality, you simply don't understand what happened.

Too Big to Rig targeted the 19 million voters who voted in 2020 but failed to vote in 2024. They spent hundreds of millions of dollars getting those voters to the polls using NGO's, PAC's, unions, and foundations. The Republicans were nearly absent on the ground and delusional, spending their hundreds of millions on TV, mailings, and online, which generally do not drive voters to the polls and often drive them away. The result was inevitable.

The Democratic National Committee (DNC) focused on direct face-to-face conversations with voters. The Democratic Senatorial Committee spent $550 million to flip seven GOP Senate seats.

The militant group No Kings held 3,000 rallies in late October 2026 and turned out 9 million voters. They joined with Indivisible and other 'progressive' groups to organize volunteer grassroots canvassing on a massive scale. This included MoveOn, Public Citizen, AFT, ACLU and 50501.

Old fashioned door knocking is what works! The Democrats have always understood that. Make a list. Visit the voters, record if they support your candidate, and focus on getting your favorables to the polls.

If the Republican Party and Republican candidates are too hardheaded to hear this and implement it, they will continue losing, and the Republic will be lost.

The Bible spells it all out:

"Ask and it will be given to you; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you."
— Matthew 7:7.

Central High School JROTC Take 4th Place

In Army Division at 2026 LA State Raider JROTC Championships

BOGALUSA - The Central High School JROTC Raider Team took 4th overall in the Army Division at the 2026 Louisiana State Raider JROTC Championships meet held on Saturday, Nov. 7 2026, at Cassidy Park in Bogalusa.

The 14 cadets overcame a grueling course and stiff competition from 17 other Louisiana high schools to bring home their 4th place finish.

The Central Raiders also took 3rd place in both the one-rope bridge and physical team test events, a 4th place in Cross-Country Rescue, and a 7th place finish in both the 5km team run and Obstacle Course.

Members of the team are Savannah Huber, Sydney King, Tobias Bennett, Malcolm Holmes, Dylan Barnes, Novalee Kieren, Jonah Donahoe, Declan Rivers, Maddox Wagner, Anthony Gomez-Cabrera, Kodi Anderson, Layla Kieren, Juliann Bostwick, and Russell Freeman.

The Raider Challenge competition is a Junior ROTC extracurricular outdoor sporting competition, made up of five events involving teamwork, obstacle courses, and other technical skills.

The Bogalusa High School Lumberjack Raiders won the overall Army Division State Championship.

A CAREER OF SERVICE

1995 • WEST BATON ROUGE PARISH SHERIFF'S OFFICE
I began my law enforcement career at the age of 20, on August 1, 1995, serving as a Deputy Sheriff with the West Baton Rouge Parish Sheriff's Office. Early in my tenure, I was promoted to Corporal and appointed as the Operations Manager of the Work Release Center.

1995-2000 • PATROL & SWAT
After turning 21, I was transferred to Uniformed Patrol and completed the LSU Basic Training Academy. Over the next four years, I served in patrol operations and as a member of the Crisis Response (SWAT) Team, gaining valuable experience in tactical response and community protection.

2000-2005 • BATON ROUGE POLICE DEPARTMENT
On August 14, 2000, I joined the Baton Rouge Police Department, completing the department's academy and serving in the 3rd, 2nd, and 4th Districts during my Field Training Officer period. From 2001 to 2005, I worked in Uniformed Patrol at the 4th District, rotating through various shifts—from evening shift to dog shift—where I developed a strong foundation in patrol work and community engagement.

2005-2010 • ARMED ROBBERY DIVISION
In 2005, I was assigned to the Armed Robbery Division as a Detective, investigating a wide range of cases, including bank robberies, personal robberies, and other major theft-related crimes. This role allowed me to sharpen my investigative skills and play a vital part in solving serious offenses affecting our community.

2010-2014 • U.S. MARSHALS FUGITIVE TASK FORCE
In 2010, I was honored to join the United States Marshals Fugitive Task Force as a Task Force Officer, where I was responsible for locating and apprehending dangerous fugitives. I served in that capacity until 2014, when I returned to Uniformed Patrol and was promoted to Sergeant at the 4th District. After several years of leadership in that role, I was promoted to Lieutenant and transferred to Uniformed Patrol at the 1st District, where I continued serving with dedication and professionalism.

2023 • RETIREMENT & NEXT CHAPTER
After 28 years of service, I retired on September 22, 2023, to focus on my next chapter—continuing the pursuit of my business, Lew's Firearms, and spending more time with my family while embracing new opportunities and future adventures.

Central Shuts Out Liberty 61-0

Wildcats in Q-Finals vs. Hahnville

Photos courtesy Amanda Lipinski and Central High students

LAKE CHARLES - Central High School earned a solid 38-28 victory over the No. 2-ranked Barbe Bucs Friday night, Nov. 20, in Lake Charles.

The victory left the 7-4 Wildcats with the Regional Championship and a spot in the State Division I Non-Select Quarterfinals.

Now Central will face the No. 7-ranked Hahnville Tigers. This means the Wildcats are one of eight remaining teams vying for a shot at the State Championship in the Superdome.

Central High head coach David Simoneaux has lots of experience making a run to the Dome, both as a player and as a coach. As a player, he led to Parkview to the Class 3A State Championship in 2001. Then as a coach he led Catholic High and Central High to Division I State Championships in 2021 and 2024 respectively.

Central finished the regular season this year at 5-4 but has come on strong in the playoffs, defeating Airline High 55-28 in the first round before beating Barbe in the second round.

Hahnville is 9-3 after defeating Thibodaux 49-14 in the second round.

Based on LHSAA rules, the Quarterfinals should be Friday night, Nov. 27 in Hahnville, but that could be changed by agreement of the coaches. Hahnville is coached by Greg Boyne.

Mayor President Sid Edwards Says

Central deserves a mayor who can bring people together while still having the courage to make tough decisions. Lon Vicknair is that leader. When I look at the experience, character, leadership, and ability required to move Central forward, the choice is clear. I am not simply supporting Lon Vicknair, I'm asking you to do the same!

Mayor
Dustin Yates
City of St. George

Lon Vicknair is a 20-year veteran of the Navy, where he was a commissioned officer, a business leader, and a Central Reserve Police Officer. He is a husband, father, and 30-year resident of the City of Central. He will be a great Mayor for Central!

Mayor -Pres.
Sid Edwards

Proven in service. Tested in leadership. Ready to lead Central.
